

HOLSÆTER 23. AUGUST 2020

We did a trip by car this Sunday to see if there were any fungi in the forest.

We drove through Åbøgen, in the direction of Austmarka, and then up towards Holsætra.

We did not see terrain for mushrooms until we approached Holsætra. There we parked the car and walked some distance into the forest.

Old spruce forest.

Cranberry heather

Ferns

Ant colony

Moss and lichen.

Horstail

There should be mushrooms here.

More cranberry heather.

Cranberries

We took pictures of plants and trees and ants, but we only found a few dried scaber stalk mushrooms. It has probably been too dry here in the area lately. The mushroom association also said that there are very few mushrooms in the district.
Here I am back by the car without mushrooms.

On the way down to the main road, we saw a herd of goats that were out for a walk.

The flower box outside our entrance.
