

MOSCOW THE 11. - 13. MAY 2012

The same day as we were on a city sightseeing, the 12th of May, we were on a second trip. It was called «Moscow by night». We were first taken by bus to Moscow Metro. We were at 5 stations and looked at the decorations there. After that we went for a walk at the red square. That was a quite a different experience than to walk there at daytime. Now there were lit a lot of lights, and it was almost nicer to walk there in the evening. At the end we went by the bus back to the ship.

Below is a series of pictures from the stations, which we visited. All were different, but all were equally nice.
