

THAILAND, PATTAYA / JOMTIEN FRA HØSTEN 2010 TIL VÅREN 2011

For New Year's Eve we ordered a table at Linda's Restaurant in Jomtien. This is probably the most Norwegian restaurant in the Pattaya area. The food is a bit more expensive here, but there is excellent service, and it is a meeting place for many Norwegians.

She, who is running the restaurant, has worked for many years in Norway and is married to a Norwegian.

We arrived a bit late because of heavy road traffic that was almost standing still, but also many others were late.

Here we are seated at the table.

What, is my twin here too, Kjell is wandering?

Now food!

Lots of food.

Grilled rib.

Thai food.

Lots of rib.

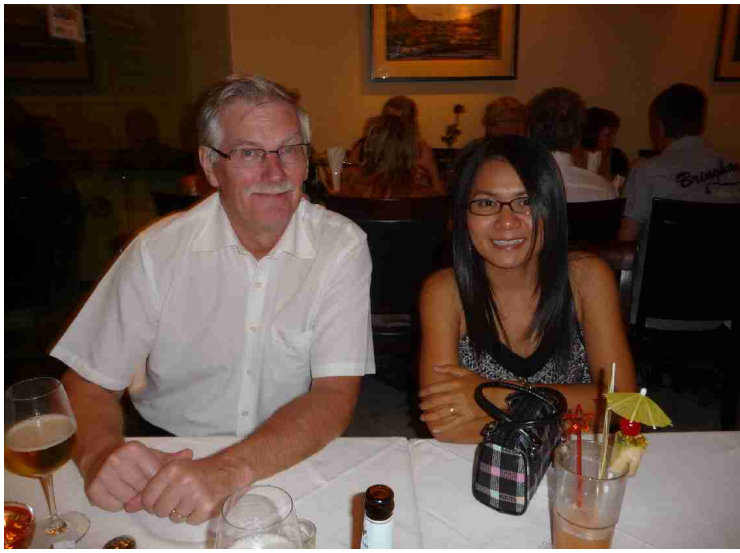

People enjoy themselves.

The waiter who attended our table. Very skilful!

The bar.

We got company at the table after a while.

Then there was dessert, rice creme with raspberry sauce and fruit.

After the meal, Sputnik played dance music. He is from Norway and was very popular there a long time ago. He is living in our neighbor street and is going to entertain at the restaurant in spring together with another couple.

Dancing.

Here the dance is over.
