

The first task the next day was a trip to Manavgat. There we were going to have a boat trip on Manavgat river. Here we have taken a seat on the sun deck of the boat. Link.

View up the river.

Anne Berit took a picture of me.

We went a little way up the river, under the bridge, to turn around, before we went down towards the mouth.

The river is quite broad on some stretches.

There were a lot of sightseeing boats along the river.

Most of them were parked for the winter.

Special boat.

There were more special boats here.

A large hotel.

This was the boat we used. We docked at a distance from the mouth of the river.

There were many who would swim in the sea. Here we look westward.

Looking eastward.

It was alleged that there was 18 degrees in the sea.

A couple of camels were on the beach.

Nice animal.

This is where our food was barbecued.

The barbecue hut seen from the boat.

This dog was sitting at the barbecue area. It was not interested in contact with us.

Right by where the boat docked there is a trout farm.

Here we have got our food. It was good trout that probably had grown up in the fish farm. Local food.

Of course there was taken photos here too and we bought these three.

The photographer had also made pictures of us on two plates. We bought these as well.

Back at the hotel.
We found these chairs a bit nice.

In the evening if we were going on a Turkish evening.
Here we come to Sadirvan Restaurant, located near the airport in Antalya.

We were some of the first to come in, but the room was almost filled up when everybody had arrived.

We sat at this table. We got dinner with wine, soda and water.

A poster on the scene.

Here the following program was introduced. Most were Turkish folk dances.

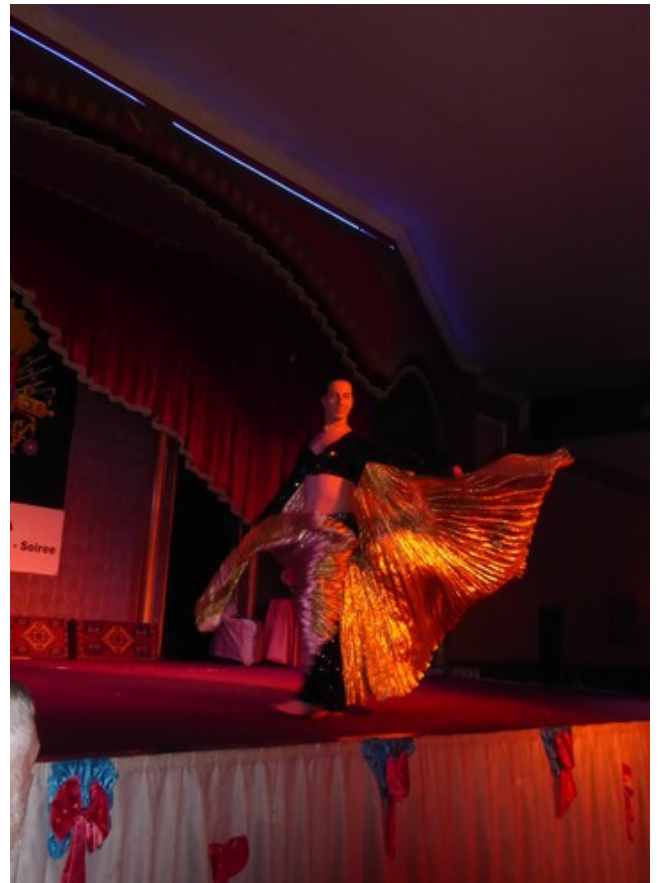

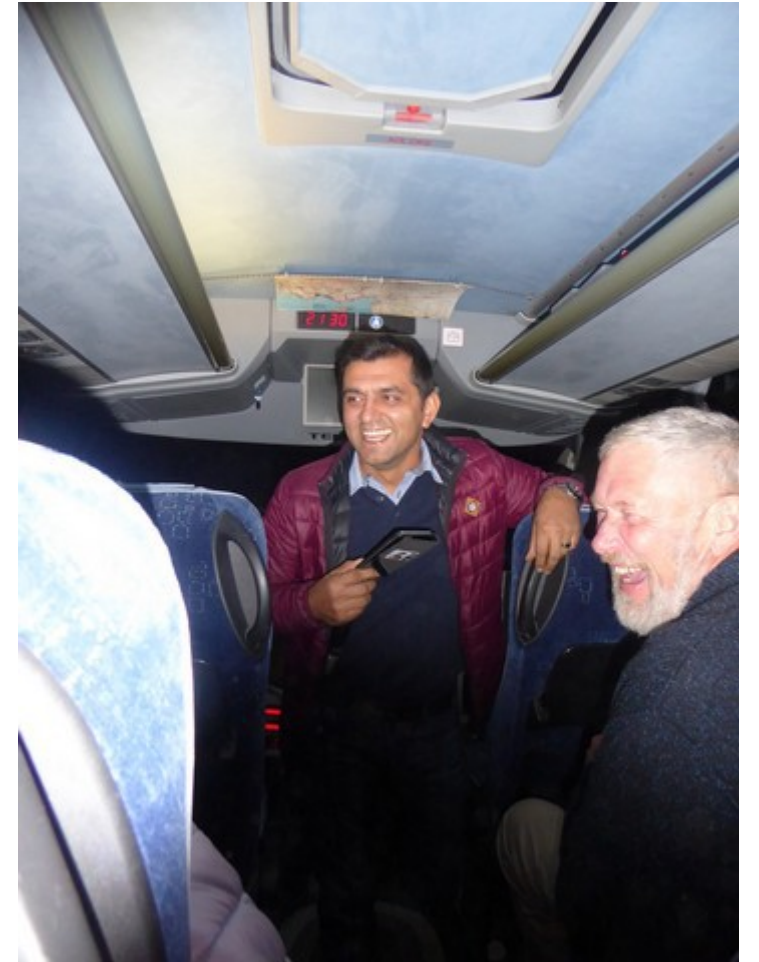

This guy is acting with burning torches.

Male belly dancer.

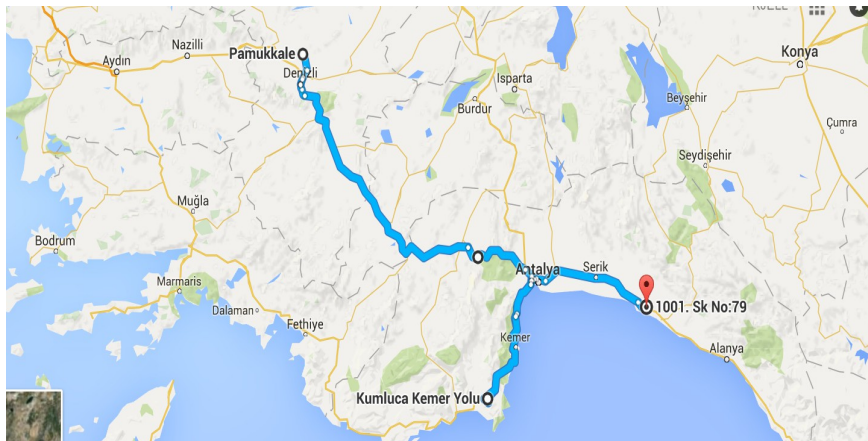

This is the final scene.

Some videos that I recorded from the performance:

The files may take a long time to download, depending on the broadband speed.

On the bus trip back to the hotel our guide demonstrated Turkish folk dance.

Finally a map that shows where we drove while we were in Turkey
